How long does a solar panel warranty last?

The average warranty coverage from panel manufacturers includes 25 years of coverage for the equipment and manufacturer defects and 25 years of guaranteed maximum efficiency losses. Most manufacturers don't handle installations as well, so they don't typically provide labor or roof leak warranties.

What warranties does a solar system have?

Today, most home solar energy systems include three primary coverages: product warranties, performance guarantees, and installation warranties. 1. Product warranties A solar product warranty covers the physical components of your system, such as the panels, inverters, or batteries.

What is a solar product warranty?

Critically, solar product warranties cover manufacturing defects rather than any issues that arise during or after your installation. For a product warranty to remain valid, a certified solar professional may need to handle, install, and maintain your solar panels, inverters, or batteries. 2. Performance warranties

What is a performance warranty on a solar panel?

A performance warranty guarantees a maximum level of degradation - typically between .25% and .75% - per year so that in 25 years the panel will still have 80-90% of the power output it did in its first year. Performance warranties are important for sizing solar systems to maintain 100% offset for 25 years.

What types of warranties cover solar panels?

There are two basic types of warranties that cover solar panels. A product warranty protects you from defects in a solar panel stemming from material quality or manufacturing errors. This is also referred to as an equipment or materials warranty

Why do you need a solar panel warranty?
